Synopsis:

Cassie Carter, a single mother of three-year-old twin boys, took a new job after her husband dies in an accident. The nanny position in Park City, Utah, is for a wealthy family who live the country life—plus a few billion dollars. As blown away as she is by the mountains, mansion, and horses, it all fades in comparison to Kip Morgan.

Kip is a horse trainer and reality television star who can send her pulse into a stampede with just one touch. While Cassie works to sort out her feelings and what really happened to her late husband, her boys become Kip's biggest fans. Caught in a dangerous web her late husband left behind, Cassie scrambles to protect her family from harm and her heart from Kip. However, Kip holds the key to unlocking the mystery behind her husband's death and the chance at new love. Cassie will have to trust him or risk leaving herself and her boys at the mercy of her husband's killers.
